TERMS OF REFERENCE

Catering Services for the Inauguration of Davao Ground Receiving Station (D-GRS)

I. Rationale

The Department of Science and Technology - Advanced Science and Technology Institute (DOST-ASTI) implemented the Philippine Earth Data Resource and Observation (PEDRO) Center Project which established a satellite ground receiving station (GRS) in its premises in Quezon City with a 3.7m tracking antenna that securely receives, processes and distributes spaceborne imagery. The images from PEDRO supported the initiative of various research institutions and government agencies such as, but not limited to, agricultural and environmental monitoring, land cover classification, national security, urban mapping, and disaster mitigation.

To continuously expand our capacity to provide high-level, earth-surface information, the DOST-ASTI established a second GRS located at the Davao City Civil Aviation Authority of the Philippines (CAAP-Davao) Radio Transmitter Facility premises. The Davao-GRS (D-GRS) consists of a 7.3m tracking antenna which is the largest of its kind in the country. It allows for data reception for satellites with higher bandwidth, alongside expanding the current coverage for uploading and downloading data.

In celebration of this milestone, the DOST-ASTI will be holding a D-GRS Inauguration Ceremony by the last quarter of 2019 at the CAAP-Davao Compound. The event is organized by the DOST-ASTI, in cooperation with the DOST Regional Office XI (DOST-RO XI) and CAAP-Davao.
